1. This application discloses and claims only subject matter disclosed in prior Application No. 09/283,769, filed 3/31/1999, and names an inventor or inventors named in the prior application. Accordingly, this application may constitute a continuation or division. Should applicant desire to obtain the benefit of the filing date of the prior application, attention is directed to 35 U.S.C. 120 and 37 CFR 1.78.

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for random bit source having maximum FOUR components (e.g., see Fig. 4), does not reasonably provide enablement for random bit source having FIVE components. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with this claim. The recited features, i.e., high frequency oscillator and low frequency oscillator of claim 27 should be belonged to a “component to test the duty cycle” (claim 26, line 3).

3. Claim 27 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 1st paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Cited references are art of interest.

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the recorded references do NOT teach or suggest the novel “iteratively altering the output voltage of the” voltage source until the duty cycle has not substantially reached the first threshold" feature as recited in independent claims 1. Similarly language is used in independent claims 26.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
